andrew melrose 9:18 PM

What part of DDOT evaluates the alleged safety issue?

This question has been answered live.

andrew melrose 9:18 PM

What steps are required before DDOT makes a safety determination?

This question has been answered live.

andrew melrose 9:20 PM

Since there is no requirement that requesting residents live at the address submitting the request how do we ensure that directly impacted residents know that something is happening?

This question has been answered live.

andrew melrose 9:34 PM

What role do residents actually living on the block where measures are proposed have in the pre-determination stage? Why is there no process for providing input and correcting potentially erroneous information?

This question has been answered live.

Ronald Kahn 9:38 PM

A core issue is related to the lack of quality control in the 311 system. (not just ddot) That transcends any type of ticket / process. Putting a resident on the design or test team as part of the 'improvement' process might also be a good idea

This question has been answered live.
